INTRODUCTION

WAL Training (Pty) Ltd was established in 2005 as a business to undertake training needs (vocational, trade and specialized) across various disciplines such as Warehousing (lifting, earthmoving equipment operators, maritime and driver training). In targeting semi-skilled labour the company through the years has strived to penetrate through various industries such as Transportation, Construction and Engineering, Manufacturing and Logistics.

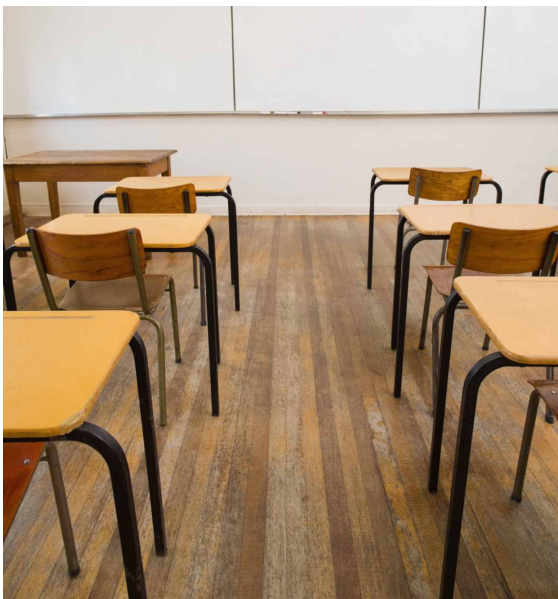

It is through dedication and commitment that the company managed to survive the global meltdown, by focusing on establishing mutual business agreements with public and private sectors. Since South Africa is affected by high unemployment rate and as player in global markets WAL Training focused on uplifting careers of learners that want to acquire relevant skills nationally and international. This have created a win-win situation between WAL Training, industries, Training Institutions and Learners within the boundaries of South Africa. Furthermore, the company also established relationships with countries such as China and Germany for Learners to uplift their skills in technology i.e. 4th Industrial Revolution and Engineering.

This profile broadly states the operational importance that assist training demands to various industries and guidance on how WAL Training fulfil these demands. Our professional team are despatched in all corners of South Africa to recruit all learners and officials who have quest for career development. Their achievements are at our hands, hence WAL Training fulfil its mandate with pride as a proudly South African company.

INTERNATIONAL INTERNSHIPS

WAL Training are leaders in the delivery of innovative solutions in skills development and training which builds partnerships between industry 4.0 and skills training and development; WAL Training is a South African Black Woman owned Entity that works closely with the Chinese Culture Centre, to prepare learners for international studies as well as work integrated learning experience. WAL has been operating in the skills training and development space since 2006.

In the past three years the two entities have successfully placed (with the help of funding from both Setas and China) more than a thousand learners at Chinese higher educational institutions and at relevant employment places.

With the emerging of industry 4.0 WAL Training has focused on exposing learners to entrepreneurship, co-operatives, self-employment and highly skilled workers in TVET College

Taking into consideration the accelerated rate in which technology and manufacturing is developing in China over the past 20 years, partnering with China would expose our learners to the advanced technology in various sectors of education and training ;

Bricklaying, Plastering, Tiling

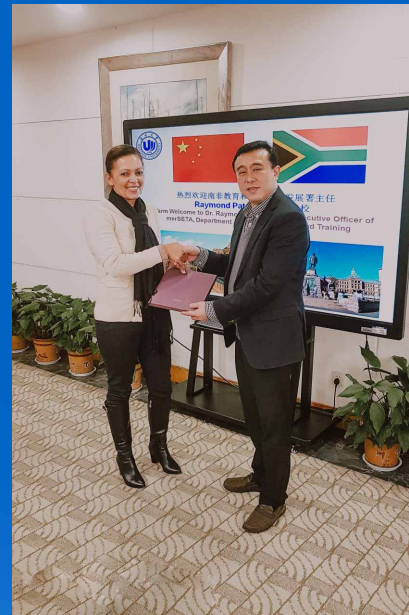

Our initiative is geared up to specialize in the recruitment and selection of high level graduates from across TVET colleges in South Africa to be trained in high level skills within the following areas:

- 5G;
- Industry 4.0;
- Robotics;
- Robotic welding;
- Artificial Intelligence;
- Mechanical engineering;
- Electrical engineering;
- Mechatronics;
- Tool making;
- Fitting and Turning;
- Millwrights.

“

WAL Training is committed to the recruitment, selection and work placements of graduates for work integrated studies in China. Furthermore, it is committed to the adherence to the development and implementation of the national skills development strategy and fulfilment of its mandate as a training provider in South Africa.
